I. Introduction

The aims of relationships and sex education (RSE) at our school are to:

- Provide a framework in which sensitive discussions can take place
- Prepare pupils for puberty, and give them an understanding of sexual development and the importance of health and hygiene
- Help pupils develop feelings of self-respect, confidence and empathy
- Create a positive culture around issues of sexuality and relationships
- Teach pupils the correct vocabulary to describe themselves and their bodies.

High quality RSE helps create safe school communities in which pupils can grow, learn and develop positive, healthy behaviour for life. Our RSE programme will reflect the schools' over-arching aims and demonstrate and encourage the following values:

- respect for self
- respect for others
- responsibility for our own actions
- responsibility for our family, friends, school and wider community

2. Statutory requirements

As a maintained primary school, we must provide relationships education to all pupils as per section 34 of the Children and Social work act 2017.

However, we are not required to provide sex education but we do need to teach the elements of sex education contained in the science curriculum.

In teaching RSE, we must have regard to guidance issued by the secretary of state as outlined in section 403 of the Education Act 1996. At Seaburn Dene Primary, we teach RSE as set out in this policy.

3. Policy development

From the outset, this policy has been developed in consultation with staff, pupils and parents.

The consultation and policy development process involved the following steps:

- a. Review – a working group pulled together all relevant information including relevant national and local guidance.
- b. Staff consultation – all school staff were given the opportunity to look at the policy and make recommendations.
- c. Parent/stakeholder consultation – parents and any interested parties were invited to attend a meeting about the policy.
- d. Pupil consultation – we investigated what exactly pupils want from their RSE.
- e. Ratification – once amendments were made, the policy was shared with governors and ratified.

4. Definition

RSE is about the emotional, social and cultural development of pupils, and involves learning about relationships, sexual health, sexuality, healthy lifestyles, diversity and personal identity. RSE involves a combination of sharing information, and exploring issues and values. RSE is not about the promotion of sexual activity.

5. Curriculum

Our curriculum is set out as per Appendix I but we may need to adapt it as and when necessary.

We have developed the curriculum in consultation with parents, pupils and staff, taking into account the age, needs and feelings of pupils. If pupils ask questions outside the scope of this policy, teachers will respond in an appropriate manner so they are fully informed and do not seek answers online.

Primary sex education will focus on:

- Preparing boys and girls for the changes that adolescence brings.
- How a baby is conceived and born For more information about our curriculum, see our curriculum map in Appendix I.

6. Delivery of RSE

At Seaburn Dene, we teach Personal, Social, Health and Economic education (PSHE) through Jigsaw, a PSHE Association Quality Assured Resource. RSE is taught within the PSHE education curriculum. Biological aspects of RSE are taught within the science curriculum, and other aspects are included in religious education (RE).

Pupils also receive sex education sessions appropriate to their age and stage of development. Relationships education focuses on teaching the fundamental building blocks and characteristics of positive relationships including:

- Families and people who care for me
- Caring friendships
- Respectful relationships
- Online relationships
- Being safe

Sex Education; The specific content of RSE is taught through the “Changing Me” topic in the Jigsaw scheme. However, essential work is done in prior lessons in order to build children’s self-esteem, enhance their own sense of self in regard to their body image, how to develop caring and healthy relationships and how to develop assertiveness skills in keeping themselves valued, safe and respected. This work underpins the explicit RSE content and is part of the holistic approach to RSE teaching and learning.

In our schools, puberty is covered age-appropriately, prior to onset so that children are prepared emotionally and physically when their bodies change and approach puberty without fear. The names for the main external parts of the body are taught in KS1, developing this in KS2 so children understand the male and female reproductive systems. Growth from birth to old age is taught in each year group, with each year group building on the previous year’s knowledge. Conception and childbirth is taught within KS2.

Emotional and mental health is an underpinning concept in every RSE lesson taught through mindfulness, philosophy and practice. We aim to empower children to understand and regulate their own emotional states. There is a strong emphasis on providing children with the knowledge and skills related to physical and emotional health, so if issues arise they can recognise them, have strategies to assist, and to seek early help from appropriate sources.

Growth mindset is also fully integrated into our RSE lessons. We are passionate that good mental health underpins everything. At Seaburn Dene, we encourage a safe, open and positive school environment in which to learn and seek help when needed.

Equality

Our schools are fully compliant with the Equality Act 2010 through our inclusive ethos; we are committed towards equal opportunities in all aspects of school life. All resources used will support this commitment. We will respect ethnic, cultural and religious diversity that different groups may have.

SEND

RSE will be accessible by all pupils. High quality teaching that is differentiated and personalised will help to ensure accessibility for all. Young people with special educational needs will NOT be withdrawn from RSE, but will be given help to develop skills to reduce the risks of being abused and exploited, and to learn what sorts of behaviour are and are not acceptable. Work may be planned in different ways in order to meet the needs of individual young people with special educational needs. Young people working beyond the curriculum will be encouraged to apply their skills, knowledge and understanding in other areas of the curriculum.

Safeguarding

All teachers will be aware that sometimes disclosures may be made during these sessions; in which case, the school safeguarding procedures will be followed immediately, following the Safeguarding Policy.

Assessment

Our school has high expectations of the quality of pupils' work, in line with other curriculum areas. The curriculum will build on the knowledge pupils have previously acquired, with regular feedback on pupil progress. Lessons are planned to ensure that pupils are suitably challenged. Although there is no formal examined assessment, teachers capture progress via self-evaluations/reflection and whole school feedback.

For more information about our RSE curriculum, see Appendices 1 and 2.

These areas of learning are taught within the context of family life taking care to ensure that there is no stigmatisation of children based on their home circumstances (families can include single parent families, LGBT parents, families headed by grandparents, adoptive parents, foster parents/carers amongst other structures) along with reflecting sensitively that some children may have a different structure of support around them (for example: looked after children or young carers).

7. Roles and responsibilities

The governing board

The governing board will approve the RSE policy, and hold the headteacher to account for its implementation.

The headteacher

The headteacher is responsible for ensuring that RSE is taught consistently across the school, and for managing requests to withdraw pupils from non-statutory components of RSE (see section 8).

Staff

Staff are responsible for:

- Delivering RSE in a sensitive way
- Modelling positive attitudes to RSE
- Monitoring progress
- Responding to the needs of individual pupils

- Responding appropriately to pupils whose parents wish them to be withdrawn from the nonstatutory components of RSE Staff do not have the right to opt out of teaching RSE.

Staff who have concerns about teaching RSE are encouraged to discuss this with the headteacher.

Class teachers are responsible for teaching RSE in our school.

Pupils

Pupils are expected to engage fully in RSE and, when discussing issues related to RSE, treat others with respect and sensitivity.

8. Parents' right to withdraw

Parents do not have the right to withdraw their children from relationships education.

Parents have the right to withdraw their children from the non-statutory components of sex education within RSE.

Requests for withdrawal should be put in writing using the form found in Appendix 3 of this policy and addressed to the headteacher.

Alternative work will be given to pupils who are withdrawn from sex education.

9. Training

Staff are trained on the delivery of RSE as part of their induction and it is included in our continuing professional development calendar. The headteacher may also invite visitors from outside the school, such as school nurses or sexual health professionals, to provide support and training to staff teaching RSE.

10. Monitoring arrangements

The delivery of RSE is monitored by the PSHE Subject Leader through:

- monitoring the standards of children's work and the quality of teaching
- supporting colleagues in the teaching of RSE
- providing information about current developments in the subject
- providing a strategic lead and direction for the subject
- giving the leadership team an annual summary report, evaluating strengths and areas for development in the subject.

Class teachers, as part of our internal assessment systems, monitor pupils' development in RSE. This policy will be reviewed by the PSHE subject leader annually. At every review, the policy will be approved by the Governing Body.

Review

This policy will be reviewed in the light of changing statutory requirements.

Inclusion Statement

At Seaburn Dene Primary School, we are committed to offering an inclusive curriculum to ensure the best possible progress for all of our pupils whatever their needs or abilities.

Pupils have Special Educational Needs if they have a learning difficulty which calls for special educational provision to be made for them. Pupils with a disability have special educational needs if they have any difficulty in accessing education and if they need any special educational provision to be made for them, which is anything that is additional to or different from what is normally available in schools in the area.

At Seaburn Dene Primary School we undertake the duties, including in relation to this policy:

- Not to treat disabled pupils less favourably for a reason which relates to their disability
- To take reasonable steps to avoid putting disabled pupils at a substantial disadvantage
- To do our best by all disabled members of our school community in relation to the requirements of this particular policy

Equality & Diversity Statement

Seaburn Dene Primary School fully recognises its duty to comply with equality and diversity legislation, and its Gender Equality Scheme sets out the school's aims in relation to equality and what it will do to ensure that equality is fully embedded in practice. The school fully acknowledges its responsibilities in terms of equality issues in relation to gender, age, race, disability, religion or belief, sexual orientation and gender reassignment, including in relation to this policy.

Seaburn Dene Primary School is firmly committed to equality and diversity, and when carrying out our functions, we shall have due regard to the need: to eliminate unlawful discrimination and harassment; to promote equality of opportunity between men and women.
